What are absolute security policies?

Absolute implements and maintains industry-standard security policies that align with the NIST Special Publication 800-53. This policy is further defined by control standards, procedures, control metrics, and control tests to assure functional verification.

Do absolute employees receive security training?

Absolute employees receive security training during onboarding and on an ongoing basis. Employees are required to read and sign information security policies covering the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of the systems as well as services that are used to deliver Absolute products and services.

How does absolute support information security?

Our executive management actively supports information security within the organization through clear direction, explicit assignment, and acknowledgement of information security responsibilities. Absolute's Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) is responsible for security, technology, and infrastructure, and reports directly to the CEO.

How secure is the Absolute Platform?

The Absolute Platform supports the latest industry-standard secure cipher suites and protocols to encrypt all traffic in transit. We encrypt customer data at rest. We also enforce full disk encryption for company-issued laptops.

Why is security important to absolute?

Given the scope of Absolute's capabilities and the scale of our deployment, security is critically important to us. We are committed to providing strong security controls and encryption to protect the information you entrust to us.

What is absolute's Cybersecurity Framework?

Absolute implements and maintains a cybersecurity framework to manage cyber risk, control, and compliance-based activities. This framework is based on the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Cybersecurity Framework (CSF).
